Ageing

Ageing or aging is the accumulation of changes in a person over time. Ageing in humans refers to a multidimensional process of physical, psychological, and social change. Some dimensions of ageing grow and expand over time, while others decline. Reaction time, for example, may slow with age, while knowledge of world events and wisdom may expand. Research shows that even late in life, potential exists for physical, mental, and social growth and development.

What brings me most joy?

1. Octogenarians using iPhones and iPads!

2. Octogenarians enjoying their iPhones and iPads!

The Library is not offering the presentation!

They know very little about what we do here!

We are all volunteers.*

Presentation is free of charge.

Thanks to the library for providing the facility.

Thanks to Barbara Kelly, and Bill Emery, Bob Kolquist

**There is a fee for Tom Miller's personal "one on one" support!*
