Running Out Of Storage

I keep getting a message saying I am running out of storage!

There are two types of storage & you need to be concerned about both!

1. Storage on your phone when you purchased it.

2. Storage Apple "gives" you!

iCloud Storage is Storage Outside or Off Your iPhone & is Backed Up To Apple's Storage Farm!

iCloud is a building with computers! Its technical name is Apple Server Farm.

Can I Delete Photos On My iPhone/iPad & iMac and Keep Them On My Other Devices?

Unfortunately No! What you do on one device happens on all devices!

Not if all devices are signed into my iCloud account!

There are ways!

If I delete a picture on my iPad mini, it also deletes that picture on my iPhone too. I want to remove a lot of photos on my iPad mini and only my iPad mini.

Unfortunately, you can not. Because you have iCloud Photo Library turned on, all of your devices' camera rolls are identical. Apple's thing about iCloud Photo Library is that everything is perfectly in sync, there's no photo you have on one device and not the other.

You could consider turning iCloud Photo Library off and deleting all the stored photos (in Settings > iCloud > Storage > Manage Storage > iCloud Photo Library, then select Disable and Delete) but that will cause problems potentially including a loss of photos. Be sure to back up all of your photos to Google Photos/a hard drive before attempting to turn off iCloud Photo Library.
