Nope, because it doesn't take a picture.

The infamous "notch" exists on iPhones because the iPhone contains an infrared dot projector and a depth sensor. The dot projector sends out a grid of dots, and the depth sensor analyzes the relative distance to each dot.

It does not work by taking a photo of your face, it works by taking a contour map of your face.

If you use a camera that can see infrared, it looks something like this:

The dot grid looks like this, but infrared, not visible light.

How to stop using Google services and switch to alternatives on your iPhone

by Ankur Thakur | Mar 14, 2022

taying a hundred percent away from Google apps and services is next to impossible. But there are some excellent alternatives for most Google products. And this guide will help if you want to stop using Google apps and services on your iPhone for any reason, be it privacy concerns or personal preference.

There are "trade offs"!

Privacy is a mammoth issue. Google knows everything! Do your searches with Duck Duck Go! Don't use Gmail. Perhaps Yahoo.

Set Up an Alternate Appearance

In addition to continuously learning how you look, Face ID can recognize an alternate appearance.

Face ID with a Mask

Face ID is most accurate when it's set up for full-face recognition only. To use Face ID while wearing a mask, iPhone can recognize the unique features around the eye area to authenticate. You must be looking at your iPhone to use Face ID while wearing a mask.

Reset Face ID

ATTENTION

You must be looking strait into the face of the iPhone.

You cannot be wearing sunglasses.

Helpful Hints To Assimilate Passwords! Especially Your Apple Id Password!

Write it in the inside of your shoe or belt. Use the lyrics of a song. Associate a word and add an important number. Chose a favorite place & add a number before or after. Repeat your password twenty-five times a day. Write your password on a piece of paper 20 times. Put your password in your underwear drawer. Write it on a piece of masking tape & attach it to your forehead. Use the Notes app Turn on Keychain and use the Passwords feature.

Ask clients I have helped how important is their Apple ID password!

It must be portable! Take it everywhere you go!!!!!!!!!

How Many Passwords Must I Remember?
